

MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Orchids. The exportation of orchids from the Philippine Islands is increasing. In March, 1914, 10,000 plants were consigned to a San Francisco firm and arrived in excellent condition. During May 5,000 plants were shipped to the same firm. The consignments included four varieties—Sollerians, Amabilis, Studianus and Sanderjans.

One Led to Another. "I tried to get you over the telephone half a dozen times yesterday morning, but the line was busy every time."

That Knife-Like Pain

Have you a lame back, aching day and night? Do you feel sharp pains after stooping? Are the kidneys sore? Is their action irregular? Do you have headaches, backaches, rheumatic pains, feel tired, nervous, all worn-out? Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the medicine recommended by so many people in this locality. Read the experience that follows:

An Indiana Case

John H. Huber, R. P. D. No. 14, Ridgeville, Ind., says: "I had kidney trouble and rheumatic pain and couldn't work for six months. A physician, doubtless, brought on the trouble. The pain in my back was so acute I just gave up, in fact my whole body ached. I had headaches, couldn't see much, and was thin and worn out. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I have enjoyed good health since."

IN THE SAILOR SHAPE

ONE OF THE NEWEST FLAT-BRIMMED HATS.

Parisian Designers Predict Much Popularity for This Model—Organdie Muslin Being Used in a Most Lavish Fashion.

The drawing shows a flat-brimmed hat of sailor order made of crepe Francais in a rich shade of Belgian blue. This charming model was effectively trimmed with little clusters of small lemon and orange blossoms. These flat-brimmed sailor shapes are more fashionable than ever.

They are rather larger than the sailor hats of last year—wider in the brim—and they are trimmed with small clusters of flowers or not trimmed at all, two ornate pins being considered sufficient to give a finished appearance to the hat.

This hat-pin trimming becomes more and more popular. The Parisiennes are wonderfully clever at inventing new and decorative hat-pin heads and when an uncommon shape has been selected these large pins give the very best results. The Paris dressmakers are enthusiastic over the charms of organdie muslin, plain or printed. They are using this delicate material in large quantities and are manipulating it into really exquisite frocks which have the necessary old world flavor.

These frocks are flounced and tucked in a lavish manner and always invariably they are accompanied by loose sashes composed of velvet or wide satin ribbons and finished off with nosegays of small flowers at the waistband. The very latest idea is organdie muslin in a subtle shade of flesh pink.

This muslin looks beautiful when trimmed with oyster-white shadow lace or when combined with printed muslin which has sprigs of bright flowers on an ivory ground. Many of the best summer blouses are made of fine organdie muslin and some of these are mounted over decollete slip bodices made of pastel-tinted pongee.

It is going to be a most artistic season from every point of view. The new linen dresses are embroidered a l'Anglaise, in colored washing silks, cherry-red on white, or heliotrope on the same background. A new and effective idea is the under slip of bright colored silk, matching the embroidery silks, which is worn with these costumes.

With Old Waists.

Make use of your embroidered waists that are out of style by making them into slipover corset covers.

Cut out the sleeves and open under arm seams, sew up the back or front, finish with small tucks or strip of lace.

Cut out the neck large enough to slip over the head.

Cut in shape from shoulder to under arm, finish with lace, put tape on back.

IF INCLINED TO STOUTNESS

Some Matters That the Not-Too-Slender Woman Will Do Well to Keep in Mind.

In the fashion department of the Woman's Home Companion appears the following "dress don'ts" for women:

"Don't be inveigled into wearing the too-short skirt; three inches from the floor is a good conservative length.

"Don't adhere too strictly to fashion's latest whims—pass the choker collar, for instance.

"Don't let the smart deep-yoked skirt tempt you if it's the slender nip you want.

"Don't set your heart on having one of your summer dresses of the rough-surface tussah silks that come in the fascinating sand and ecru shades. These fabrics and these shades are not for you.

"Don't adopt the long tight sleeve, even if it is the mode of the moment. The tight transparent sleeve brings out too prominently the shape of a big fat arm. The sausage effect should be avoided.

"Don't allow yourself to take kindly to the 'bobbed' hair dressing; the forehead band, the too tight coiffure, and the too small hat. It will be a sorry day for you if you allow yourself to be tempted."

Collar Care.

Keep your thin collars neat and snug by tacking a piece of flat, white silk elastic (one-fourth inch wide) across the top, sewing to the back and wide featherbones.

AFTERNOON DRESS

Russian tunic edged with taffeta frill and many layers of cable cord stitched closely together. The waist is shirred at the front. Fine organdie vest and frill. Cuffs of finely plaited organdie.

PROTECTION FROM THE FLIES

Covers for Glasses May Be Said to Be Almost Indispensable During the Hot Weather.

During the summer, or at any time when there are flies about, glasses or fogs containing milk, barley water, lemonade, etc., should always be protected by some light cover, preferably one that is washable. In the sick room especially are these needed.

The one shown in the illustration is just a square of soft muslin edged with a fringe of crocheted cotton on which beads are threaded to weight it, or narrow all-bead fringe may be used; a six-inch square will answer for either a tumbler or a medium size jug.

To make it, cut out a piece of stiff cardboard measuring three and one-half inches each way, and on that side which is to be the top cover it with cream silk, and on the under side with oil silk. The two pieces of material are smoothly stretched across on either side of the card and sewn together at the edges, which are afterwards finished off with a fine silk cord.

carried into three little loops at each corner; it is further ornamented with a frill of lace which hangs downwards all round the glass.

For lifting the cover, an ornamental button is sewn in the center at the top.

Frocks Show the Crochet Touch.

Knitting and crocheting, which at the beginning of hostilities were indulged in only for the soldiers, have invaded the world of dress, and many hats and frocks bear testimony of the ingenuity of busy fingers. A hat, for instance, bears as its sole trimming a blue crocheted cock's head having a red comb. Similar cock's heads in black and white beads appear on toques and turbans. Mme. Lanvin decorates her serge frocks with a bit of color in the form of a flower with green leaves done in crocheting or in a new sort of darning which closely resembles crocheting but which is done with a sewing needle. These flowers are placed, as a rule, on the pockets of the skirt or corsage. Crocheted or knitted purses are carried by those who patronize the ouvroirs, but these articles are not always remarkable for their beauty.—Vanity Fair.

Silk Muslin Nightie.

Pink silk muslin has been chosen for a nightie which is part of a troussseau composed of wonderful hand-embroidered articles. The pink is a very delicate shade, so that it is sure to appeal to the girl who loves daintiness. The V-shaped neck of the nightie is finished with buttonholed scallops and is slashed down the front for several inches. Each side of the slashed material is provided with buttonholed slots and through the slots narrow black velvet ribbon is run. Wider black velvet ribbon is run through slots placed higher in the back than the front. Design is embroidered on the front of the gown and on each sleeve in pink and blue.

"Chew it after every meal"

Saves Steps.

When the best and happiest housekeeper known to the writer was asked to tell the secret of her speed in housework she replied: "I never iron with a cold iron, cut with a dull knife or go to my kitchen to prepare a meal without a clean small hand towel pinned to my apron belt on one side and a similar dish towel pinned on the other. Try it, and you will be surprised to see how much time and how many extra steps you will save."

HIDDEN IMPURITY

"If American women knew how much of our Coffee lies on the ground for days, before the berries are finally swept up and harvested, greater care would be exercised in purchasing this food. For this Coffee is impure. But its moldy color is lost in the roasting, and the partial decay is concealed until it comes up harsh and bitter in the cup. This fact is not generally known to importers, for few of them have studied conditions existing prior to the arrival of their ships in port."

So writes F. C. Harwood. And Mr. Harwood knows. His long experience in the tropical coffee growing countries, his deep intimacy with plantation owners, his close study of their customs, their methods and the "Tricks of their Trade" has acquired for him a fund of knowledge which places him far in the leadership of coffee connoisseurs, both here and abroad.

Denison's Coffees are selected by F. C. Harwood, personally, and it is here that his power in the Coffee Industry manifests itself to the qualification of Denison's Brands. His wisdom and critical discrimination is appreciated by Coffee Growers the world over, and their respect gives him first choice of the world's finest crops. Thus, only pure, hand-picked berries find their way into Denison's Coffees. His care is your safeguard against impurity.

Try Denison's and realize your ideal Coffee put up in Cans, Cartons or Bags. Ask your grocer or write Denison Coffee Co., Chicago, for the name of the nearest dealer.—Adv.

GOLD'S SIREN LURE FOR MEN

Hardship and Death Dared by Thousands That They May Gain Riches Quickly.

It was in 1898 that the rush of gold seekers to the Klondike reached its flood. The ninety-eighters probably never will know the fame of the forty-niners, but they have a place in the long history of the gold hunters, the men of all nations, ancient, medieval and modern. The book has a hundred chapters telling of failure and of death to every one lightened with the story of success.

H. M. Cadell recently visited the Klondike and there made a study of present conditions. He describes them and adds an interesting account of the early day rush to the Northwest territory. The Smithsonian institution has put Mr. Cadell's report into print. It is an interesting document. Some of the happenings in the Klondike were duplicates of like happenings in California and Australia during the first years of the surface washing in those fields. These duplications show that human nature is unchanging.

Men went to the Klondike daring hardship and death that they might get rich quick. Some of the gold seekers were quickly successful. A large percentage of the successful ones almost literally threw their money away. Easy come, easy go. This sort of thing has marked gold mining in all ages. The Klondike is not what it was, but human nature stays the same. The discovery of gold at the North pole would start a northern migration that would take no account of the insuperable obstacles of distance and cold. The lure is irresistible.—Chicago Post.

A Matter of Surprise.

"Don't you think women ought to vote?" asked Mr. Meekton's wife. "Well, Henrietta, there's no doubt in my mind that you ought to vote. But if your opinion of some of the other women is correct, I don't see why you should want to intrust them with such a responsibility."
